

Are These The World's Most Beautiful Honeymoon Destinations?

Where to go post-wedding to unwind

By Melissa Twigg on Aug 25, 2017

The Rock Star Experience

< 7 / 8 >

Photo: Courtesy of Kata Rocks

Kata Rocks Phuket

The Kata Rocks Phuket will make you feel every inch the genuine rock star, thanks to its extraordinary service and ability to fulfil your every whim at a moment's notice. Want a champagne-showered party by the DJ booth? It's yours. Feel like an entire day of pampering in your very own beachfront villa? Right away, madam. And thanks to the hotel, you'll feel like an A-lister before you've even come up with your first demand.

The airy, all-white layout and extraordinary panoramic views of Phuket (think azure seas and ornate rock formations) feel more akin to a private superyacht than any landbound hotel. Days are spent drifting from pool to sea to spa, while evenings are rosé and cocktail-fuelled events in the water-facing bars, complete with a DJ.

The Rock Star Experience

< 8 / 8 >

Photo: Courtesy of Kata Rocks

Why It's Perfect:

The team at Kata Rocks prides themselves on their ability to tread that very fine line between hugely attentive 24-hour service and the much-needed solitude honeymooners yearn for after the non-stop socialising of a wedding. And they do this by organising lavishly planned, utterly private events. Opt for a private dining experience at sunset right on the oceanfront, with a custom menu and as much champagne as you can drink, all while lying arm in arm looking at the Andaman Sea.

Another option is the Shiva Shakti, a 150-minute couples' treatment using rose oil, orange blossom and jasmine to create heightened feelings of bliss and happiness in the heart, water and crown chakras. In the evening, romantic sundowners can be served in a hidden nook by the pool reserved for honeymooners, far from the other guests.